

ROLE OF WOMEN IN SOCIETY

Nizamova Feruza Alimullaevna,

Associate Professor of the Department of Uzbek Language and Classical Oriental Literature of the International Islamic Academy of Uzbekistan candidate of philological sciences

Tel.: +998909047098

ANNOTATION: Among the problems and tasks of national and national importance, the most important topic of which is presented in every speech of our country's president is aimed at improving the system of protection of legal, social, economic and spiritual interests of women in the family, state and society. Using the right granted by the Constitution, women are taking an important place in the Republic of Uzbekistan in the management of the state and society. Today, women are working in various directions of organizations, enterprises and institutions. As we know, for several thousand years, the cultural level and spiritual perfection of any society has been determined by its attitude towards women. Honoring a woman and showing respect to her is a characteristic of the Uzbek people. In the Hadith Sharif, "Paradise is under the feet of mothers", "First do good to your mother, then to your mother, then to your mother, and then to your father." At the same time, in our independent Uzbekistan, significant works of state importance are being carried out to strengthen the place and status of women and girls in society. In our republic, issues related to women have been in the center of attention of the state and society. Our opinion is evidenced by the fact that Article 46 of the Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan states that "Women - girls and men have equal rights" and that it is followed in all aspects of life. Women and their honor have been considered sacred in the East, and special respect and attention have been paid to them. In the entire educational world, there is a special issue called the interest of women, and it is not without reason that great importance is attached to its study and solution. After Uzbekistan gained independence, the protection of women's rights in our society rose to the level of state policy. It is known that the stagnant attitudes towards women in the past are now finding new content and meaning in a free and free society. We know from history that the attitude towards the status of women in society has changed in different periods depending on the state policy. After all, women are the foundation of the family in any society. The saying "If women rock the cradle with one hand, they rock the ~world with one hand" is true. Therefore, if we take a deeper approach to the issue, the development, justice and humanity of any society is determined by the attitude towards women. Let's take a look at history. The treatment of women is where the historical roots of their rights go. A woman is a politician, a statesman, a poetess, a scientist, the most necessary person for society. We see that if we turn the pages of our ancient history, we can clearly see the place of women in society.

Even in the reign of the Great Timurids, Amir Temur's beloved wife Bibikhanim was considered a woman who held an important place in the country's social life. Due to the independence of the Republic of Uzbekistan, fundamental changes are taking place in the process of democratization in all spheres of social life. The person is at the center of these changes, the protection of his rights and freedoms is given priority. The state pays special attention to the problem of protecting women's rights. In order to protect the rights of women, to ensure their full participation in the political-social, socio-economic and cultural life of our country, to increase the effectiveness of the work being carried out to raise the moral and intellectual level of women and young people, the President of Uzbekistan on May 25, 2004 "Women's Committee of Uzbekistan" Decree "On additional measures to support the activities" was adopted. This document is an important event in the life of republican women.

According to Article 18 of our Constitution, all citizens of the Republic of Uzbekistan have the same rights and freedoms, regardless of gender, race, nationality, language, religion, social origin, faith, personality and social status, and are equal before the law. The strengthening of the equal rights of women and men according to Article 46 indicates the level of the state's attention to ensuring women's rights in our country. Improving the working and living conditions of women, strengthening the family, paying more attention to the social problems of the younger generation, and creating favorable conditions for women's active participation in social life has now become one of the most important and urgent tasks. The Women's Committee of Uzbekistan has been operating as a public organization of republican women.~the~ most important topic of which is presented in every speech of our country's president is aimed at improving the system of protection of legal, social, economic and spiritual interests of women in the family, state and society. Using the right granted by the Constitution, women are taking an important place in the Republic of Uzbekistan in the management of the state and society. Today, women are working in various directions of organizations, enterprises and institutions. We all dream that Uzbekistan will be a great country in the future, and all our work, thoughts and aspirations are aimed at this.

As we step towards this great future, we can say without any hesitation that great people create a great future, and only great women can give birth, grow and educate great people. In this place, it is important that our women are healthy, educated and intelligent, as well as their level of spiritual and legal knowledge, and the extent to which they feel their duties and responsibilities.

List of references:

1. The years of independence are a test of our faith.
2. - T.: Movarounnahr, 2015. - B.
3. Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan.
4. - T.: "Uzbekistan" NMIU, 2010. - B.10.